

FREE?

Paul wrote a letter to the Galatians to set them straight. The kind of freedom that Jesus offers is not the absence of constraint, or license, or personal autonomy. It's a deeper and more liberating freedom. It's freedom from the slavery of sin, shame, and the law. This is the power that unites us to Christ and allows us to serve others in love. It's the settled confidence that comes from knowing we are adopted children of the King of the universe. It's what all the world wants that Jesus promised and is giving us daily in the gospel. This new 6-session study in the Storyteller series will help you learn this and more about the freedom that all believers have in Christ.
